NATURE TALES

A Musical Storytelling Concert with

HEATHER FOREST

Suffolk County Environmental Center

550 South Bay Ave. Islip, NY 11751

April 24th ♦ 3:00 pm

Free!

The wonders of nature come to life in the imagination of the listener as Heather Forest weaves a web of story, song, poetry, and original music. Her lively minstrel style of storytelling has been featured in storytelling festivals nationally. She brings wit, eloquence, comedy and drama to the retelling of multicultural folktales and fables from the treasury of world folklore. Her Nature Tales concert features folk stories inspired by the animals, trees, and ecology of the natural world.

"A true troubadour... even the narrative parts of her storytelling seem to be sung; her delivery is so precise and compelling, she just draws one into her spell. Her stories are lovely, magical things and her singing voice is true, simple, and unadorned."

Martha's Vineyard Times, MA

About Heather Forest

Heather Forest has delighted audiences of all ages touring her performance repertoire of world folktales to theatres, schools, major storytelling festivals, and literature conferences throughout the United States and abroad. Her storytelling has been featured at the National Storytelling Festival, Tennessee, at The Museum of Modern Art, N.Y., the Discovery Theatre at the Smithsonian Institute, Washington D.C., the Sidmouth International Folk Festival, England, and at the Glistening Waters Storytelling Festival, New Zealand. An award winning children's book author, she has published seven picture books, two folktale collections, and eight audio recordings of storytelling. Her concert will take place in the garden of the Suffolk County Environmental Center's newly renovated 1917 Normandy-style chateau.

This concert program is made possible in part with public funds to Story Arts Inc. from the New York State Council on the Arts. In Suffolk County the Decentralization Program is administered by the Huntington Arts Council.
